

Travel Scholarship in honour of Professor Colin Nettelbeck

At the Annual General Meeting in March 2021, ISFAR members voted to set up a Travel Scholarship in honour of Emeritus Professor Colin Nettelbeck, to recognise the central role he played in founding the Institute and his ongoing and invaluable commitment to the full range of its public and research activities, including his inauguration of the ongoing French Australian Dictionary of Biography (<https://www.isfar.org.au/fadb/>).

This biennial Scholarship of $400 will be awarded to a Postgraduate or Honours student to assist them present a paper at the ISFAR conference, held every two years. Candidates should apply by submitting the Scholarship application form available on the ISFAR website, together with their abstract, by the Call for Papers deadline. Criteria for the award include the quality of the abstract, the relevance of the paper to the themes of the conference, and the degree of financial support already available to the candidate. The Research Committee's decision, including the decision whether to make an award, will be final.

The first award will be made in relation to the conference planned for 2023. Further details and an application form will be available on the ISFAR website closer to the time.
