France and Australia cultural differences

Sabrina Teller, cross cultural consultant in conversation with Kerry Mullan

*Do you want to make the best of your expat experience?
Confused why your team does not work the same way as in your home country?
Frustrated dealing with cultural differences in your host country?*

Based on her personal experience and her 20-year career as an international business manager, Sabrina will present an overview of Cultural Intelligence and how this can help us understand the cultural differences between France and Australia. Sabrina will also discuss key cultural dimensions where French and Australians have different ways of working which can impact on performance when working together, and advise how we might go about navigating culture shock and dealing with unfamiliar communication styles.

As a cross-cultural consultant and trainer, Sabrina Teller is dedicated to helping executive expatriates adapting to their new working environment as well as multicultural teams to working successfully together, through cultural consulting and awareness programs.
