Donating to the ISFAR Research Fund

ISFAR is Australia's only research centre dedicated to the study of the relationship between Australia and France. Its journal, The French Australian Review (FAR) is unique in its interdisciplinary coverage/interdisciplinarity, and is recognised as top-ranking and of national significance by important sectors of the Australian research community. The Australian Research Council recognises The French Australian Review (FAR) under two research categories: "Historical Studies" and "Language, Culture and Communication".

The Research Fund serves to commission specific research projects, to assist researchers in the development of research ideas and projects, and to award bursaries to young researchers to attend ISFAR and other relevant conferences. Among the ongoing long-term projects already being overseen by the Research Committee are:

- The French-Australian Dictionary of Biography, a biographical dictionary of important figures in the history of French Australian relations.
- A history of the influence of French wine-making on the Australian industry, through the individuals and companies involved, coordinated by Professor Barbara Santich.
